Weather
Considerable heat and local thunderstorms. The maximum temperature yesterday was 92.1 and the minimum 77.9, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 89.6 and 77.8.

Gladstone Called Statesman One Of Empire's Leaders

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—There was an interesting incident in the House of Commons today on the occasion of the Prime Minister moving "that His Majesty be humbly asked to direct the erection, at the House's expense, of a monument within the precincts of the Palace of Westminster to the memory of Joseph Chamberlain with an inscription expressing the House's high sense of his eminent services to the country and the Empire."

Mr. Lloyd George, in the course of a long and glowing tribute, said there were few men in the history of Great Britain who had retained the passionate attachment of so many millions of their countrymen over such a long period.

EXALTED FAME

Much of Mr. Chamberlain's policy, he said, remained in the ranks of acute controversy, but a large part was now beyond challenge by any section and large enough to accord him exalted fame in the region of British statemanship.

His vision of the importance of strengthening the partnership of the Empire had already been justified by the most stern and searching test that could be applied to any proposal, namely that of a great world war. After dwelling on Mr. Chamberlain's brilliant services in the region of domestic legislation, the Prime Minister said what Mr. Chamberlain had accomplished for the Empire, perhaps the Dominions were even better judges than the people at home.

NATIONAL SPIRIT AROUSED

He aroused the national spirit and awoke a consciousness of the imperative need of strengthening the bonds of fraternity between the various parts of the Empire. The notable part played by the Dominions in the Great War, especially the alacrity with which they had stepped in, was largely attributable to what he did in arousing a sense of partnership and collaboration in the various parts of the Empire.

The future, continued Mr Lloyd George, would alone reveal the full extent to which his labors had contributed to the fashioning of the destinies of the Empire and through the Empire of the fate of mankind.

Mr. Lloyd George quoted Gladstone as having said after his retirement that Mr. Chamberlain was the most remarkable man that British politics had produced in the past forty years.

Mr. Asquith, in seconding the resolution, paid an equally cordial tribute to Mr. Chamberlain's qualities of character.

The resolution was unanimously carried.

Bread Subsidy At End In England

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—Mr. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the House of Commons today that the government had decided, in the interests of national economy and with a view to hastening the return to normal trade conditions, to end the bread subsidy before the beginning of another financial year.

At present the subsidy was about five pence on the quartern loaf, three pence of which would be transferred from the taxpayer to the consumer next month, and whatever balance remained, according to the price of wheat, would be transferred by the close of the financial year.

Contractor Dumps Refuse Into Soochow Creek, Say Conservancy Authorities

Commissioner Chen Alleges Settlement Garbage Is Choking Course Of Important Water Traffic; Suggests Plans For Improving Situation

That the municipal contractor for the shipping away of the refuse of the settlement is threatening the health of the city and causing the congestion of traffic along the Soochow Creek is the opinion of Commission Chen, who is delegated by Civil Governor Chi of Kiangsu to carry out conservancy work along the Soochow Creek.

The contractor, according to Mr. Chen, removes the garbage daily to a place along the Creek west of the Sinza district. There it is left to deteriorate and fall into the creek. The coolies even dump the refuse straight into the stream and were from time to time caught by the Chinese police. In spite of heavy fines and imprisonment little effect has been secured.

The refuse piled up along the banks of the creek, says Mr. Chen, is in a constant state of decomposition and the stream always washes the debris down the creek, threatening the health of the settlement, where still a large number of people make use of the water for drinking and cooking purposes.

Mr. Chen expressed the hope that the municipal authorities will hereafter instruct its contractor not to dump the refuse on the present site and to suggest some other suitable lot where the water outlet is closer to sea. He suggests certain spots in Pootung.

The commissioner sees no difficulty in conserving the Soochow Creek, but is of opinion that his work will be rendered useless if the municipal contractor is allowed to dump his refuse along the creek above Shanghai.

Mr. Chen was appointed last year by the Kiangsu Civil Governor as a result of the constant congestion of water traffic along the Soochow Creek on account of the narrowing down of the stream.

The Soochow Creek is the most important waterway between Shanghai, Soochow, Wusih, Taichang and Changshu.

SHAW'S ARREST JUSTIFIED, VIEW HELD IN JAPAN

Without Details Foreign Office Asserts Chosen Authorities Were Right

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 12.—In reply to a request by Reuter for additional information with regard to the arrest of Mr. George L. Shaw in Korea, the Foreign Office stated:

"Information, received from the Chosen Government, shows that the arrest was made upon sound legal evidence. The case is at present sub judice and therefore no detailed information can be given out.

"When the facts are known to the general public, there is no doubt that they will demonstrate that the action of the authorities was fully justified."

TIENTSIN COMMENT

Tientsin, August 13.—The case of Mr. Shaw is arousing considerable interest here. The Peking and Tientsin Times, in a leading article, under the heading, "Justice in Korea and Peking," contrasts the treatment, accorded by the Japanese to the Anfuites, sheltered in the Japanese Legation, though they are responsible for most of China's mistakes and humiliations for the past few years and "the Kidnapping" of a British subject in Korea.

The journal declares that not a single line in the Japanese police statement can be construed to mean that Mr. Shaw committed any offence on Korean soil and that no offence for which Japan can claim jurisdiction has been revealed.

"Unless the British Government insists on Mr. Shaw's release," the journal continues, "no Briton who has given the slightest offence to Japan, will find it safe to enter Japanese territory. Passive acquiescence in the arrest and subsequent treatment of Mr. Shaw would have a most deplorable effect on British prestige in the Far East."

CHANG CHAR IS WANTED HERE AS CIVIL GOVERNOR

Following the impeachment of Civil Governor Chi Yao-ling of this province, a number of organisations in Kiangsu, have telegraphed to the Peking administration, suggesting the appointment of Mr. Chang Char, the Nantungchow industrial magnate, as Chi's successor.

Chang Char is the brother of Mr. Chang Chien, former Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. The Chang brothers have undertaken some stupendous industrial enterprises in Nantungchow and are hailed as two of the foremost leaders in China's reorganisation movement.

CHAMBER HERE IS WORKING FOR COMPANIES LAW

Data Now Being Compiled Is To Be Forwarded On To Washington

In support of the proposed American federal incorporation law the Shanghai American Chamber of Commerce is compiling a mass of data that is to be sent to Washington in December when the measure will be taken up. This is in line with purposes announced at the meeting held recently to discuss the subject while the party of visiting legislators was in Shanghai.

The work of compiling the evidence that the chamber desires to submit to Washington in connection with the proposed new law has been placed in the hands of a committee of the executive body. Mr. H. H. Arnold, President of the Chamber, heads this committee. It was determined at a meeting of the executive body this week when the committee was named, to obtain statements from American commercial interests bearing upon the question. These are to be put in shape to be sent on to Washington.

The federal incorporation law is now in the hands of the Judiciary Committee of Congress of which Congressman Leonidas Dyer, a member of the visiting party of legislators, is chairman.

Under present conditions American business concerns operating abroad are obliged to incorporate under state charters which places them outside of the direct jurisdiction of U. S. Consular or federal courts.

MANNIX IS GIVEN COOL GREETING ON ARRIVAL IN LONDON

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 10.—Archbishop Mannix arrived in London at an early hour this morning. He was greeted at the station by a few Irish enthusiasts but there were no incidents.

The Archbishop immediately drove off to a private destination. His only remark was that the authorities "have put me to a little inconvenience but they have made themselves look unutterably silly."

Exports Of Coal And Cotton From America Show Big Increases

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 11.—Exports of bituminous coal for the past fiscal year were 22,976,000 tons, an increase of 5,000,000 tons.

Exports of cotton totaled 6,915,000 bales, including 3,323,000 to Great Britain and 876,000 to Japan.

Shanghai Rotarians Winners
Surprise At Meeting In U.S.

ATLANTIC City, New Jersey, America's great ocean-shore resort, where the Rotarians held an international meeting in June, has learned something about Shanghai, and the reason for this is to be found in the fact that Mr. J. E. Doyle, "Dinny" to his familiars here, and Mr. G. L. Treadwell, who is Secretary of the Shanghai Rotary Club, represented the Shanghai organisation at the meeting in a fashion so novel that probably it never will be forgotten on the resort's Board Walk.

Messrs. Doyle and Treadwell took a riesha with them when they went to America, together with appropriate Chinese costumes, and when the convention got well under way they put in appearance in their Chinese garb and brought the riesha into use—doubtless the first one ever seen at Atlantic City. Word that has reached Shanghai indicates that the most novel feature of the Rotarian convention was supplied by the Shanghai delegation. Another Shanghai resident who was present with Messrs. Doyle and Treadwell was Mr. A. V. White.

VIEWS OF PRESS

Following is one of a number of reports that the appearance of the riesha brought forth in Atlantic City papers. It is taken from The Atlantic City Daily Press of June 23:

"No delegation attending the international convention of Rotary is attracting the degree of attention that is being bestowed on J. E. Doyle ("Dinny") and George L. Treadwell, who represent the Shanghai, China, Rotary Club. Aided and abetted by A. V. White, also of Shanghai, who happened to be in this city on a visit when the conventionists arrived, they are giving the Board Walk a decided oriental touch. Garbed in Chinese attire and prancing about with a jinrikisha (Chinese jitney), they lend a glorious bit of the picturesque to the Wooden Way.

"Yesterday afternoon "Dinny" Doyle, who is city editor of The China Press, in Shanghai, and George Treadwell, who is assistant manager of the Chinese-American Publishing Company, in that far-off burg, paid a visit to the Press office, jinrikisha and all, accompanied by Mr. White who is a broker in Shanghai. There was a crowd about the door in a jiffy and for a while there was danger that American traffic along Atlantic avenue would be suspended for an hour or so.

SHOWS CHINA PRESS

"Mr. Doyle had with him a copy of his paper, which is a bright, newsy and up-to-the-minute daily. He showed the Press staff printing and photo-engraving work that was done exclusively by Chinese.

"The Shanghai men, who are at the Traymore, are both natives of New England. Doyle was born in Danvers, Mass., and Treadwell hails from Dorchester, Mass.

"A Chinese jitney, which is the high brow transportation system of the Chinese who have the price, is propelled by manpower. The rider boards the "car" and the coolie grabs the shafts and proceeds down the street at a dog trot. To demonstrate jinrikisha travel, Mr. Doyle invited two of the Press-Union business office staff, the Misses Rose Mellen and Pearl Neppel, to take a ride."

No Rate War On Pacific Is Verdict Of Japanese

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 12.—With regard to the Pacific freight rate question, all the large Japanese shippers agree that nothing is to be gained by rate-cutting. All are anxious for a conference and they think that a peaceable solution is probable at the meeting at Yokohama on Saturday. They hope that the present crisis will speed up the wheels of the Government offices, in which permission to increase rates is being withheld.

Mr. Ito, Managing Director of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, in the course of an interview, said: "There is no serious danger of an impending rate war between American and other carriers in the Pacific. The recent conference at Kobe (between British, French, Dutch and Japanese representatives) did not terminate favorably but no agreement was reached because the Japanese companies were represented by branch managers, who were unable to act independently. Japanese carriers do not wish for any cutting of rates, which would involve considerable loss. On the other hand they desire "an amicable settlement."

A high official of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha stated that the Government controlled the freight rate on the Japanese lines but permission for an increase of the rate had not yet been given and therefore the promise to the United States Shipping Board operators in April to conform to the schedule, proposed by the Board, had not yet been fulfilled.

Hold Conference In Washington On Far East Problems

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 10.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Sir A. H. H. Richardson, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that the British Minister to China, Sir Beilby Alston, in the course of his journey homeward via Washington, had informally discussed matters of mutual interest in the Far East with Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador at Washington, and Mr. Bainbridge Colby, the American Secretary of State.

Mr. Harmsworth added that a memorandum was being drawn up but had not yet been handed to Lord Curzon.

French Premier On Visit To Devastated Districts Of Nation

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 12.—M. Millerand, who since his coming into power, has always desired to make a tour of the liberated districts, has at last been able to take advantage of the vacation to realise his plans, delayed up to the present by parliamentary business.

The Premier left Paris this morning to visit successively the ten devastated departments, accompanied by M. Ogier, the Minister of the Liberated Regions.

M. Millerand arrived at Noyon at 9:30 and was received on the station platform by M. Noel, member of the Senate, and other prominent personages. There was a large crowd at the station to welcome the Premier. M. Millerand and his suite proceeded on foot to the ruins.

Fire At Godown Of Butterfield & Swire

Fire in one of the main Butterfield and Swire godowns immediately in the rear of and adjoining the company's large office building on the French Bund furnished a spectacular blaze that drew hundreds to the scene after midnight today and caused a loss, the amount of which has not yet been estimated, but which, it is thought, will run into many thousands of taels. Both the French and International fire departments were called to the fire.

The manner in which the fire started shortly after midnight had not been ascertained early today. At 3 o'clock this morning the whole interior of the godown was a blazing furance with flames leaping high into the sky and it believed that the entire contents, consisting of oil and general merchandise, with a considerable quantity of matting, would be wholly destroyed.

Some little damage from water was done in the main office building through which it was found necessary to lead lines of hose.

After the fire had been brought fairly well under control and had been cut off from the other godowns immediately adjoining and the main office building a detatchment of French marines from one of the French warships in the harbor arrived and gave assistance to the firemen.

FRANCE RECOGNISES WRANGEL ARMY; BRINGS NEW SPLIT WITH BRITISH; WAR ON BOLSHEVIKI, SAYS REUTER'S

Paris Government Takes Drastic, Independent Action That Creates Tense Situation In Near East; Did Not Consult Lloyd George; Outcome Of Controversy In Doubt

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 11.—The French government has decided to recognise General Wrangel's government as the de facto government of Southern Russia. A French diplomatic agent will be sent to Sebastopol with the title of high commissioner. The French government has instructed the French commercial attache in London to have no relations with M. M. Kameneff and Krassin.

The French government's decision to recognise General Wrangel implies the rendering of all possible assistance to the latter. General Wrangel is meeting with considerable success and is turning the Cossacks against the Soviet.

The French believe that he shows more promise of overthrowing the Bolsheviki than the Poles, General Denikin or Admiral Kolchak.

London, August 11.—The news of the French recognition of General Wrangel caused a sensation in London. The question is being asked whether it means that Great Britain and France are flatly at variance again as they were on the occasion of the French occupation of Frankfort.

BRITISH POSITION

The Premier in the course of his statement in the House of Commons pointed out that British aid would only be given to General Wrangel in the event of the Minsk negotiations breaking down owing to the Bolshevik terms being impossible, whereas the French statement implies that all possible material aid will be rendered to General Wrangel immediately whatever happend at Minsk. The gravity of the decision need not be emphasised. It means that the French are openly at war with the Soviet. The French were evidently encouraged to take this step by General Wrangel's recent successes in the Crimea, where, according to his own accounts, he has been sweeping the Red Armies before him. The Bolshevik communiques on the other hand, confine themselves to stating that heavy fighting has been going on on the whole front "in our favor."

London, August 11.—Mr. Lloyd George heightened the mystery with regard to the news from Paris, exclusively received by Reuter in London, that France has recognised General Wrangel's government and that the French foreign office notified Mr. Lloyd George of the decision yesterday, when he told the House of Commons this afternoon that his only information was Reuter's telegram and that he could scarcely credit it.

"TO SPIKE PEACE"

No confirmation has come from any other source, but Reuter's enquiries in Paris elicited the reply that the news as given was official.

The action of the French ally is regarded in London as deliberately designed to spike the peace which had seemed assured in the Near East.

It apparently splits the Allied and Associated Powers into two camps, namely France with the United States opposed to Great Britain and Italy.

One of the French reasons given for the action is General Wrangel's assurances with regard to Russia's external engagements, which is "diplomatese" for Russian bonds.

Anyway, a prominent official tonight emphasised that the British attitude remained as outlined by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons yesterday evening, that the Prime Minister would not be stampeded into war by the action of France and that he was prepared to go to almost any length in order to obtain peace.

Sir Donald Maclean raised the question in the House of Commons by reading Reuter's telegram and asking for information on the subject. He said that if it truly represented the position, France must go on alone.

Mr. Lloyd George replied that he had read the telegram in the evening papers with the greatest surprise.

He did not possess any information on the subject while the foreign office, who were similarly surprised, were equally in the dark, as also was the French embassy. The prime minister said he could hardly believe the report was accurate, because he had fully discussed the whole situation with M. Millerand on Monday when there was no proposal to recognise General Wrangel.

PREMIER SCOUTS REPORT

He assumed that the report was inaccurate, because he felt cer-

America's Position

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 10.—The state department has addressed a note to the Italian ambassador in reply to the Italian request for America's views on the Polish question.

The note declares that the United States believes in a united, free Poland and the people of the United States are earnestly solicitous that Poland's independence shall be maintained but the Government cannot at present take part in a plan, for the expansion of the armistice negotiations into a general European conference, which would probably involve recognition of the Bolshevik regime.

The note expresses confidence that the Russian people will overcome the existing anarchy, suffering and destitution. The United States promises to help in the restoration of Russia, provided the latter refrains from pillage and oppression of the Poles. The note requests the withdrawal of all troops to Russia proper, excluding Poland and Finland, which request is accompanied by the statement that neither Poland, Finland nor any other Power will be permitted to transgress Russian territory.

Freedom For Colonies Is Plan Outlined To House

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—Mr. Josiah Wedgwood, labor, raised the question of the general policy of the colonial office in the House of Commons tonight. He feared, he said, that the empire had recently departed from the old traditions and that the colonial office had a natural bias in favor of the settler class and the exploitation of countries, rather than assuming the attitude of blind justice of the old administration.

This, Mr. Wedgwood asserted, was serious in view of the fact that new constitutions were being granted to British East Africa, Rhodesia and Ceylon.

Other members followed similar lines of criticism.

Lieutenant-Colonel L. C. M. Amery, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Colonies replying, denied that there had been any change in the spirit of the administration of the colonial office.

Their goal was to enable every part of the empire to attain, when conditions made it possible, full power to control their own affairs, and develop their own destinies.

To give complete self-government straight away to communities like the Rhodesia and East Africa protectorates on any sort of franchise that could be devised would not be in the interests of the mass of the native population, added Lieutenant-Colonel Amery.

Franco-Belgian Pact Meets Approval Of Socialist Leaders

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, August 10.—It is authoritatively stated that the French and Belgian military leaders have signed the Military Agreement.

Brussels, August 12.—The Franco-Belgian Military agreement finds protagonists even among leading Belgian Socialists.

M. Brunet, President of the Chamber of Deputies and Socialist Deputy for Charleroi, recently advocated the agreement.

Today another Socialist Deputy, M. Branquart in the course of a speech said: "The Meuse and Sambre-et-Meuse must be defended. The French military staff must not again retire as far as the gates of Paris in order to give the enemy his knockout blow. Belgium and part of France must never again be sacrificed. If we conclude this military alliance with France, a defensive alliance, a million men will then be behind the Meuse, and on that day Liege will be Verdun."

Fort At Mayence Is Being Destroyed

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 12.—The French press announces that the work of demolition has begun on the fortress of Mayence in accordance with the terms of the Peace Treaty. The work will take a month.

Japanese Cabinet To Stay In Position Premier's Assertion

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 12.—Mr. Hara, the Premier, in the course of a speech at a meeting of the Seiyukai party today, denied the reports of the impending resignation of the Cabinet.

He characterised such rumors as an underhand attempt on the part of the Opposition to create unrest amongst the people and Government officials and in the ranks of the Seiyukai.

Mr. Hara declared that there was no reason for resignation but that, on the contrary, many important problems, including the taxation of food any jury problems and those of Siberian and Chinese policy and of the proper development of Japanese national thought, were creating a most difficult situation, which required a loyal and positive administration, disregarding opposition schemes.

Pakenham Given New Naval Post

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 10.—Vice-Admiral Sir William Christopher Pakenham, K. C. B., who commanded the 3rd Cruiser Squadron during the war, has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the North America and West Indies station in succession to Vice-Admiral Sir Trevylyan Napier, K. C. B., deceased.

tain that M. Millerand would have communicated his intention, if it was then in his mind.

It was well known, Mr. Lloyd George continued, that France's attitude towards General Wrangel had been at variance with that of Great Britain.

The French considered that they were free to sustain General Wrangel, but Great Britain did not propose to do so, except in the contingency he had explained yesterday evening.

Where Anglo-French differences had arisen, went on Mr. Lloyd George, they had always been freely and frankly discussed, but as absolutely no discussions regarding recognition of General Wrangel had occurred, he concluded that "some unfortunate mistake had occurred in the report of a very reliable agency and that the French government had not authorised it."

Mr. J. R. Clynes, Labor, said he hoped that the new situation would not interfere with the Russo-Polish negotiations.

POLICY CRIMINAL

Colonel John Ward, Labor, urged the prime minister to advise France that such a policy towards Russia was too late and that it would be a crime now to attempt it.

In view of the latest developments and the uncertainties of the Russian position, the House of Commons, instead of adjourning tomorrow, will meet on Monday, while Mr. Lloyd George, who intended to go to Lucerne this week, has deferred his departure till next week.

The House adjourned until Monday.

POLES LATE AT MINSK

London, August 11 (midnight.—The fateful 11th, when the Poles and Russians should have met at Minsk to begin pourparlers, has passed without the delegates having come into contact. According to Bolshevik allegations, the Poles are ignoring Soviet wireless messages, while the Poles similarly blame the Russians for the fact that the delegates have not met.

A Russian note, wirelessed to Warsaw today, which M. Kameneff has handed to Mr. Lloyd George, says that the Russian Command waited in vain for the Polish delegation at the place indicated in the recent Soviet note to Poland.

The note requests the Poles to advise the Soviet of the date of arrival of their delegation and states that all facilities would be provided for Polish couriers and wireless messages and that the Russians are ready to begin negotiations.

It concludes: "We have no intentions, incompatible with Poland's liberty, independence and sovereign rights. We recognise the same in full."

London, August 12.—Mr Lloyd George sent a letter to M Kameneff yesterday evening acknowledging receipt of a communication from Moscow announcing the non-arrival of the Polish delegates at Minsk.

Mr. Lloyd George informs M Kameneff that he has received a message from the Polish government stating that until 9 o'clock in the evening on August 8 it had not received a reply from the Soviet to its wireless message of August 5, consenting to negotiate regarding an armistice and peace preliminaries.

SUSPICION AROUSED

Mr. Lloyd George also states that the British representative at Warsaw confirm the failure of the Polish government to get into touch with Moscow and he concludes by expressing the hope:

"That M. Kameneff will see that immediate instructions are issued for the reception and passage through the lines to Minsk of the Polish peace and armistice delegation and that the Russian wireless stations are instructed to receive and transmit Polish messages without delay."

Mr. Lloyd George adds that "he cannot help stating that this constant refusal to receive messages from Warsaw, while the Soviet army is steadily advancing, cannot fail to arouse justifiable suspicion and is not conducive to a prompt and peaceful solution of the present crisis."

WARSAW COMMUNIQUE

Warsaw, August 10.—A communique issued today, says:

Enemy cavalry continue to press the Poles in the direction of Mlawa and have temporarily captured Ciechocinek.

The War Minister, M. Leszniewski, has resigned and has been replaced by General Sutnowski.

The importance of the above communique lies in the fact that Ciechocinek, which is 45 miles to the north-west of Warsaw, is a vital point on the Danzig-Warsaw Railway, which the Bolsheviks have thus cut, rendering the position of the capital very dangerous.

REDS ARE CHECKED

Paris, August 12.—The Temps states that the Red armies' converging movement on Warsaw from the north and east has only made slight progress. The most serious threat to the city appears still to come from the north.

According to the same journal the Polish armistice delegation, composed of the Director of the Political Department of the Minister of Foreign Affairs and Major Akanirowa, left Warsaw yesterday evening (August 11) to meet Russian delegates.

Prince Sapieha on August 10 telegraphed to Tchitcherin as follows: "Having received no reply to our note of August 5, but learning that your delegates have presented themselves at our out-posts and that they are awaiting the arrival of our delegation, we have today sent parliamentaries to reach an understanding with your command."

RECOGNISE WRANGEL

The French Government has decided to recognise General Wrangel's government. A French High Commissioner will be appointed to Sebastopol.

In reaching this decision the French Government was largely actuated by recognition of the unfailing wisdom of General Wrangel's policy, with regard to peasants' properties and by his assurances to the Allies to fulfil the obligations of previous Russian Governments.

RUMANIA DENIES REPORT

Paris, August 12.—The Rumanian Legation has communicated the following note to the Paris press:

"A report which appeared in a morning paper as emanating from Bukharest, states that Rumania has consented at the request of the Allies, to allow one of General Wrangel's army corps to pass through her territory on its way to Galicia.

"The Rumanian Legation, in denying this report, takes the opportunity to warn the public against the propagation of false reports with regard to the situation and policy of Rumania, which are appearing with persistent regularity and are not perhaps unconnected with certain speculations in exchange."

Korean Version Of Murder Case In Frenchtown

A Korean resident in Shanghai has furnished the following in connection with the murder of Mau Sung-hsuan, the sixteen-year-old son of a Parliamentarian, last Monday night which was reported in THE CHINA PRESS Wednesday morning:

"As far as it is known the facts are as follows: Chinese boys were in the habit of taunting and even beating some of the Koreans in the neighborhood where the fight took place.

"On Monday night some Korean boys none above 14 years old got into a quarrel with the Chinese boys, it being as usual the Chinese boys were the provocators. The Korean boys were called "Dong Yang Nin" meaning "Japs" and such like names.

"As a result of this provocation one of the Korean boys started to use force, whereupon a howl was sent up by the Chinese. Immediately every Chinese in the neighborhood began to congregate with sticks. The Korean boys, only 4 in number, fled.

"So far none of the Koreans has confessed to having killed the Chinese. It seems almost impossible that a little Korean boy could successfully kill a Chinese, and then make good his escape when the Koreans were literally surrounded by the Chinese crowd."

Reunion In Christ Conference Appeal

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—The Lambeth conference, which sat in private throughout, has now issued a voluminous report of its proceedings. The report shows that 80 resolutions were adopted dealing with religious and social problems. The most important of these are embodied in an appeal "to all Christian people," dealing with the reunion of Christendom.

The appeal, which was adopted practically unanimously, urges that Christianity should be manifested in united fellowship.

It emphasises that the causes of division lie deep in the past while the present calls to a new outlook and new measures, and demands a reunited Catholic church.

The appeal visualises a church in which the divided heritage of the past would be possessed by the whole church in common and suggests that the basis of a united church should be the acceptance of the Holy Scriptures, the Nicene creed, baptism, holy communion and the commonly acknowledged ministry.

The appeal claims the episcopate to be one means of providing such a ministry.

Local Societies Demand Extradition Of Anfuites Harbored In Jap Legation

Eight Associations Ask Peking To Extradite Outlaws Given Refuge By Nipponese Envoy In Peking Legation

Great indignation was expressed by eight local bodies towards the action of the Japanese Legation in extending the right of sanctuary to the nine outlawed Anfu leaders yesterday in a telegram to Peking.

A translation of the message follows:

"The public is highly indignant over the declaration made by the Japanese Minister to Peking, allowing the Anfu outlaws to take refuge in his legation. There is no doubt in our minds that these are ordinary criminals, who are not to be classified among the political offenders. They have embezzled national funds, forged documents and rebelled against the government in order to camouflage their criminal acts with a political aspect.

ACT UNACCEPTABLE

"If foreign institutions would grant them the right of safety, then all bandits, brigands, robbers and thieves may be harbored. The action of the Japanese Minister is unacceptable.

"The British, French and American Ministers have declared their positions and are willing to uphold the principles of justice. Should the Peking Government choose to demand the extradition of the criminals in accordance with International practice, the Japanese Minister cannot ignore the position taken up by the other ministers and refuse to accede to the demand.

"The whole trouble is that the President has been too lenient in the handling of the criminals. The two lists already promulgated do not include all the traitors that deserve punishment. Hence the public is not satisfied. For instance, the notorious traitors Lu Tsung-yu, Tsao Julin and Chang Chung-hsiang, who are hated by the entire nation are left punished, while those who are ordered to be arrested are still at large.

"This will never appease the minds of the public, nor will it satisfy the punitive army which sacrificed so much to rid the nation of its undesirables.

WANT PROMPT ACTION

"The government should, therefore, take prompt steps to demand the extradition of the nine criminals now taking refuge in the Japanese Legation and enumerate the crimes of Lu, Tsao and Chang so that the doubt in our minds may be eradicated and the accusation of the President's having sided with the Anfu outlaws may be withdrawn."

The associations which despatched the telegram were the Kiangsu Educational Association, the Nantao Chamber of Commerce, the Shanghai City Educational Association, the World's Chinese Students' Federation, the Vocational Educational Association, the Chinese Oversea Union, the Christian National Salvation Society and the Shanghai Union of Fire Brigades.

The Shanghai Students' Union yesterday also addressed a telegram to the Japanese Minister, disapproving his action in the present strife. The message follows:

"During the Chihli-Anfu conflict, your country was unfortunate enough to be suspected of having assisted the Anfu leader, Tuan Chi-jui. In spite of your declarations and denials, our people still doubt the sincerity of your words.

NOT POLITICAL OFFENDERS

"Instead of finding other wholesome ways of improving your name, you actually declared that you would harbor our criminal leaders. We are indeed very sorry for you.

"What has incriminated the Anfu leaders is the plundering of our national resources and the embezzlement of our national funds. Even the beginners among law students will tell you that they cannot be considered as political offenders. Yet your country has unanimously returned the verdict. How can the world tolerate this?

"While we shall be accused of being unable to enforce our law, you will be regarded as the violator of justice and enemy of mankind. Great harm will be derived from this action, which will be most injurious to your national development and prosperous future.

"However, the time is not yet too late for you to correct your sins. Consider the matter carefully and prudently!"

HIS $54 BOILS AWAY
Man Hides Money in Coffee Pot, Then Forgets
CLEVELAND, O. - Eugene Para reported to police Monday night that $54 of his savings which he had hidden in 2 coffee pots in his restaurant, had been stolen. Last night he assured the officers that it was all a mistake.
He explained the money was in a small coffee bag inside the pot. Forgetting the money, he said he placed the pot on a steaming radiator.
The coffee boiled over and with it the $54. "I've found the bag and the money behind the radiator," he said.

Native Detective Found Guilty Of Bribery Charge

Member Of Municipal Force Convicted Of Extorting Cash From Man Who Was Wanted

In the Mixed Court on Thursday afternoon an important criminal case, which had been occupying the attention of the court for some time past, was brought to a conclusion by the conviction of the defendant, a native detective in the employ of the Shanghai Municipal Council.

In this case, the defendant, Wong Sau-ding, attached of the Hongkew district station, was charged with extorting one hundred dollars from the complainant, one Chow Ah-fong, on May 17, 1920, by threats of criminal prosecution, or in the alternative with having demanded and accepted a bribe of one hundred dollars for omitting to serve a warrant of arrest against the said Chow Ah-fong. He was charged with extorting a further sum of one hundred dollars from the same complainant on May 29, or in the alternative, with having demanded and accepted a bribe in the same amount.

Mr. William S. Fleming, of the firm of Fleming, Davies & Bryan, and Mr. R. S. Haskell appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. M. Reader-Harris, of the firm of White-Cooper, Master & Harris, appeared for the defendant.

CHARGED WITH GAMBLING

The evidence for the prosecution showed that a warrant of arrest had been issued against the defendant by the Mixed Court charging him with gambling. The native detective Wong Sau-ding was one of the officers interested in the prosecution of the case. On May 17 he met the complainant in a tea-house on Hanbury Road, and informed him that there was a warrant out for his arrest in the Hongkew station. After some discussion, it was arranged that the complainant should pay to the detective the sum of one hundred dollars, which was done. Twelve days later, complainant was arrested by Chinese Constable No. 594, but the native detective Wong Sau-ding interferred, and took the complainant into a bath-house, and again arranged to release him upon the payment of a further sum of money.

In his defense, the defendant claimed to be entirely innocent; that the evidence against him was the result of a conspiracy hatched by three other native detectives in the Hongkew district, with whom he has been on unfriendly terms, and who had taken this means of getting him out of the police force. It was said that the defendant was a man of exceptional ability, speaking several foreign languages, and intellectually was much superior to other native detectives in the force.

VICTIM OF PLOT

When summing up, Mr. Reader-Harris dealt with the evidence in the case at length, pointing out certain inconsistencies and contradictions in the testimony of the prosecution's witnesses, and contended that his client was the victim of a plot hatched up by other native members of the force, who were jealous of his ability and standing.

In reply, Mr. Fleming said that either the defendant was guilty, or there was a gigantic conspiracy against him, which involved not only five trusted members of the native force in the Hongkew district, but the people in the tea-house, and the people in the bath-house, as well; that it was unlikely that a conspiracy falsely to charge a native detective with a crime, where the facts involved so much detail and so many people, could be successfully schemed and carried through without a breakdown somewhere.

He further pointed out that slight contradictions and inconsistencies in the testimony of witnesses in a judicial proceeding instead of discrediting the witnesses, indicated truthfulness that most witnesses would differ on minor details and would seldom describe the same incident in exactly the same way. He further called the court's attention to the fact that the defendant was serving the Municipal Council at a salary of $25 a month, not more than the pay of a first-class office boy, whereas a man of his brilliant intellectual attainments, under ordinary circumstances, would not be content to remain a detective in municipal employ for such a small salary. He suggested that the conclusions to be drawn from this must be obvious.

THE VERDICT

The court retired to consider its judgment, and upon returning, the Assessor, Mr. Blackburn, announced that it was with great reluctance the court was compelled to find the defendant guilty. They regretted this because the defendant had often appeared before them in connection with his police works and that in most respects he had been a diligent public servant. However, from the evidence before them, and after a most careful consideration of the case, they could reach no other conclusion than that the defendant was guilty. The defendant was, therefore, sentenced to serve a term of two years imprisonment.

Italo-Greek Dispute Comes To An End

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 10.—The Italo-Greek dispute, which has been delaying the signature of the Turkish Peace Treaty, has now ended, an agreement having been reached between the two countries with regard to the Dodecanese, whereby the small islands are transferred to Greece, while, with regard to Rhodes, the period, within which a plebiscite must be held, has been extended from five to fifteen years.

Greece gives preference to the Italian Archeological School at Athens with regard to investigations on the island of Cos. The Convention contains no stipulations with regard to Smyrna.

Last Of Czechs To Depart From Sieriab

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 12.—It is semi-officially stated that the Czech Headquarters Staff and five thousand Czech troops with Captain Winterburgh of the United States Navy, chief of the Czech Evacuation Committee, will sail from Vladivostok on board the U.S. transport, President Grant, on August 18 for Trieste via Suez.

Two thousand Czech troops with an American naval officer will sail from Vladivostok on Sept. 1 on a U. S. transport for Trieste via Panama, completing the evacuation of the Czechs from Siberia, and also that of the American Repatriation Committee.

French Loan Being Hurried By Cabinet

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 12.—The Minister of Finance is speeding up the launching of the 1920 six percent loan campaign.

On the recommendation of the Loan Organising Committee, the Government will ask responsible representatives of agriculture, commerce and industry and of the banks to give the loan their unreserved support and the Imprimerie Nationale (State Printing House) has been ordered to make arrangements whereby the public on subscribing will immediately receive negotiable bonds, stamped and numbered, without any further inconvenience.

Louvre Paintings Damaged By War

Protected By Coverings, Colors Have Peeled; Cherubim Have 'Eczema'

Paris, July 3.—Can any American genius recommend effective treatment for cherubim suffering with facial eczema? No medical practitioner need apply, however, for the peculiar malady exists in the art galleries of the Louvre and is causing great worriment to the directors, who fear that it may result in the destruction of many "old masters."

During the war the Louvre galleries were closed to the public, and the most valuable art works were protected by piles of sandbags and waterproofs. Lack of proper ventilation resulted in many of the varnished works becoming damp coated. The varnish has peeled and taken with it, in some instances, small flakes of the original colors. The "Portrait des Cherubini," by Ingres, it is reported, is badly damaged. "Music" has lost its original beauty as a result of this new art sickness, and since 1914 Manet's "Olympia" has scaled to an unprecedented extent. The Louvre's experts have succeeded in restoring Da Vinci's "La Vierge aux Roches," Correge's "Mystical Marriage of St. Catherine" and the "Holy Family," by Giorgione.

Shanghai Americans Will Picnic Today

All Americans of the community are expected to be out this afternoon for the picnic that is to be held by the American Scout Service in Jessfield Park. Those in charge of the affair are asking all who will attend to be there at 4:30 o'clock. Picnickers are advised to bring their own table-cloths and their own water bottles and if they do not wish to sit on the grass, also to bring their own steamer rugs.

The picnic will be held near the Jessfield Road entrance to the park. Miss Hester Carter, director of the Y. W. C. A. School of physical Education, is to be in charge of the games for children and the folk dancing. The supper is to be served at 6 o'clock.

REVENUE RETURNS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 12.—The revenue returns for the month of July, 1920, give A general total of 1,109,011,110 francs, a surplus of 338,824,000 francs over the Budget estimates and an increase of 337,915,000 francs as compared with the revenue for the corresponding month in 1919.

The total revenue for the first seven months of 1920 shows a surplus of 1,973,498,200 francs over the Budget estimates and an increase of 2,251,760,900 francs as compared with the corresponding period in 1919.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR AMERICAN GIFTS IN PARIS

Paris Committee Organised To Distribute Gifts To Devastated Regions

K. OF C. HELPS TOURISTS

Day Can Now Be Spent Seeing Battlefields, Returning To Capital For Dinner.

Paris, July 3.—A new effort is being made to consolidate the gifts of Americans to the devastated regions by the organisation of an American clearance committee, which has opened headquarters in the American Woman's Club in the Rue Caumartin, which is crowded with American visitors morning until night.

The committee comprises prominent members of the American colony, with Mrs. Henry Conkling as chairman, Mrs. Frederick A. Jackson as secretary and Miss Anne L. Stewart as treasurer. It intends to carry on an extensive propaganda as to just what the French effort in the war was, and to indicate the best methods of American assistance. Other prominent Americans aiding are Mmes. George Audenreid, Paul Badger, Frederick Beekman, Clarence J. Berry, Edward Cushman, W. H. Davenport, Paul Desprez, A. M. Dike, Kendall Emerson, Charles Prince, W. B. Soper, Bertrand Webb, Robert Turner, B. Armstrong Whitney and D. L. Wyatt.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS CLUB

Summer tourists are also finding notable quarters in the new Knights of Columbus Club in the Avenue Hoche, which is attractive and is making extensive use of elaborate information bureaus, reading and writing rooms, which are open from daybreak until midnight. The club was dedicated this week by Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco, assisted by the Rev. Father Hemmick, a former chaplain in the army. The ceremony was attended by representatives of the Diplomatic Corps as well as many naval and military officers on leave in Paris, while the French clergy was represented by Bishop Alfred of Arras, Mgr. Beaudrillat and Abbe Henry Flynn, from the Paris Catholic Institute.

Now that "the grand week" of fashion and racing is concluded, tourists are turning eastward for visits to the battlefields and the occupied area in the Rhineland, apparently glad to escape the unprecedented hot spell which has descended upon the capital this week. The tourist agencies continue to report all accommodations booked a fortnight in advance, as far as automobile tours are concerned, and railroads are increasing their schedules in order to take care of American and British visitors.

INCREASED INTEREST IN ART

The French press is commenting with increased interest upon American visitors to art exhibitions of modern masters. Before the war Americans were satisfied to visit the Louvre or the Luxembourg galleries, but today such museums are discarded for the less imposing private display rooms, such as the Galeries Petit, where Herbert Haseltine, the American sculptor, has created a sensation this week with his bronzes of war horses and thoroughbreds. Haseltine's son is a promising landscape artist.

The French Government last week purchased a group by Haseltine entitled "Replacements," representing a string of worn out army horses, sick and gassed, moving along muddy roads behind the western front. The group will be added to the collection of animal sculpture now in the Luxembourg Museum. Haseltine intends visiting England to prepare a bronze portrait of the Derby and Grand Prix winners before returning to America to spend the winter.

The interest of theatergoers centered this week in the presentation of the Queen of Rumania's fairy play, "The Lily of Life," which was presented with Loie Fuller and a group of her dancers. Major Paul C. Turner, formerly of the American army, directed the play, and the presentation assumed the form of a Rumanian-American fete, with well known persons occupying the opera loges. Apart from the American Ambassador, the American colony was represented by Mrs. Adolph Spreckels, Mrs. Seth Barton French, Mrs. T. H. McCarthy, the Duchesse de Talleyrand, the Marquise de Chambrun and Mrs. Albert Flake.

OXFORD INVITES VIENNESE

WORLD'S HOST INVARIABLY PREFERS "SLUGGER" TO "PLUGGER," WHETHER IT BE IN SPORTS OR LIFE ITSELF

From Cain To "Babe" Ruth, Eden To Epsom Downs, The Red-Blooded Human Family Has Shown Its Sympathy For The "Sons Of Swat," And Their Progeny

By Dudley Burrows

"All the world loves a slugger!"

That isn't the way the original saying read, but its true, nevertheless. The "plugger," in his stoild, slow-but-sure way, may achieve more distance—even win the laurels—but the the "slugger," who walks up with a seemingly careless abandon and takes a mighty larrup at an opponent, or a ball, or life itself, is the fellow who wins the plaudits of the multitude.

"Babe" Ruth, the mighty New York batsman, is a member of the "Slugger" family; our own "Sunny Jim" Quayle, of cricket fame is another. Look down the line of history's heroes—in war, in business, in sport, where you will—and you'll find ten "sluggers" to every "plugger," unless my theory is most ridiculously wrong.

My attention was drawn to a consideration of this psychological eccentricity by a glimpse at the recently-published batting averages of the major baseball leagues of America. Ruth's name was not among the first five in his league; yet scarcely a day passes, I understand, that he is not discussed to the extent of one thousand columns in the newspapers of the United States.

Tris Speaker, who is the leading batsman of the American League, and George Sisler, who is second, are lucky if they receive ten percent of that amount of publicity. For why? Because they are "pluggers." They "mosey along" at a steady pace, dropping safe hits here and there—Ruth goes up to knock the cover off the ball, or strike out!

Ruth was injured the other day—and the Yankees promptly lost two games!

"Jimmy" Quayle, the Police cricketer, is built on similar lines, psychologically. I have been able to find no one who will say that "Jimmy" is the best cricketer—even the best batsman—in Shanghai. Yet the cricket crowd would walk from here to Woosung, were other methods of transportation unavailable, just to see Quayle at bat, knocking those "sixes" and "fours" all over the lot!

It was the same in the old boxing days, when Sam Langford, "The Boston Bone-Crusher; Stanley Ketchel, "The Montana Assassin"; Billy Papke, "The Illinois Thunderbolt"; "Wildcat" Walgast; "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson, and hard-fisted gentlemen of that ilk were roaming the homeland seeking whom they might annihilate.

They weren't "top-notchers" in the accepted sense of the word, though Ketchel and Walgast later won titles—but they surely were a husky band of "sluggers"; and they could pack a boxing auditorium with fans who would not walk five feet to see a pair of "clever guys" in action.

The same holds true on the race-track—the public, with its money bet on the favorite (a "plugger") will almost invariably go into a frenzy of encouragement if some "rank outsider" suddenly comes to life, "slugs" his way through the pack and beats the logical winner to the wire.

And tennis? what about "Maury" McLoughlin's shrapnel service, and May Sutton's slugging smashes from mid-court? Has the world ever forgotten them?

It's the old desire for the unexpected, or the uncommon. Everybody has it; even the chess players. The swat that sends the ball hurtling through space like a bit of shrapnel: or the boxer to the floor for a ten-second star-gazing tour: or your business rival into temporary oblivion—that's what we all like to see, hear and read about!

Pott And Roberts Playing Through On Kuling Court

BY F. B. LENZ

Kuling, August 10.—Although the annual Kuling tennis tournament has not yet reached the semi-final stage, an unusual interest has been developed which continues to hold the attention of an increasingly large crowd. The weather has been ideal for nearly three weeks; even if there is a rainy spell in the mornings, the courts are always dry for the afternoon.

Men's and women's doubles, men's and women's singles and mixed doubles have all been scheduled and partially played off.

Keenest interest is manifested in the men's singles, because there is a larger number of good players here than ever before. Nearly thirty men have signed up for this event. About half have been eliminated.

Among those still in the running are: Dr. Foster, Roberts, Pott, Lello, Wallace, Burch, Duff and Dr. Bell. Enthusiasm for "Bill" Roberts and "Jim" Pott is growing hourly, but it is still too early to pick the winner.

Shanghai Cricket Club

The S.C.C. "Married" will play the "Single" today on S.C.C. Ground, commencing at 1:30 p.m.: Teams.

Single.—W. C. C. Clifford (Capt.), P. H. Cobb, B. W. Duthoit, J. R. Harder, J. Hinton, A. L. Piercey, D. W. Leach, A. N. Leslie, W. G. R. Murphy, J. M. Pearson, J. R. Robertson, Rev. C. E. Spencer.

LEONARD, IN WHITE BOUT, PROVES TO ADMIRERS HE IS STILL "PEERLESS CHAMP"

World's Lightweight Champion, Said To Be Slipping, Knocks Out Crafty Veteran In Sensational Nine-Round Contest—Loser Is Courageous

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 9.—Fans of the Middle West who saw Benny Leonard stop Charley White, the Chicago lightweight title contender, in nine rounds at the Fitzsimmons arena here yesterday afternoon are convinced today that the lightweight champion is without a peer in his class.

It was not an easy battle for the conqueror. Not in many moons has Leonard encountered a tougher customer in the light weight market. In fact, White surprised the assembled boxing enthusiasts as well as the champion by the courageous and clever fight he put up. But this added much more to the victory.

It had been thought that White would not be able to put up a stiff argument. He had been called a "has been," and it was said that he had long since seen his best days in the ring.

Certainly his fight yesterday gave the lie to these statements.

The finish came suddenly and unexpectedly. White was stopped completely and did not recover for two minutes after Referee Ed Smith counted him out.

WHITE WAS LEADING

White was ahead on points when the end came, having won three rounds to Leonard's two, and it looked as though he would take the newspaper decision back to Chicago by beating the greatest lightweight the world has seen since Joe Gans's day.

A short right to the chin, a punch which Leonard had been trying to sneak over all through the scrap, started White on his way to defeat. Leonard, who never lets them get away from him once he has them in a bad way, put that right home on the button or chin point. He took one glance at the dazed White, saw he was badly hurt, and then went after him like a master finisher.

A FIERCE FUSILADE

A fusilade of rights, lefts to the chin and stomach-pit followed that first right hand. Charlie wilted under the terrific bombardment and crumpled to the mat. Groggy and befuddled, he started to his feet.

He clambered up before the referee could get well into his count, only to meet the same blinding and relentless attack. Twice more he sank into the resin, and twice more he tottered gamely up on his wobbly legs.

The fourth time a few crashes to the right spots put him away for keeps. He did not seem to hear the referee as the official counted over him and a rubber pad used to protect his teeth fell from his mouth as he tried vainly to get into a sitting position. When it was seen that the fight was over the fans stormed the ring and hampered White's seconds in pulling him to his feet.

A GAME VETERAN

Once they got him erect somebody let go and Charlie fell back on the floor. He was out unquestionably and decisively defeated by a greatly superior fighter. But he was game to the last inch, fought a swell battle and was a trifle in the lead when he ran his jaw into the path of that terrible first right.

Still Champion!

REGULARS OUT TODAY TO TRIM BOLSHEVIKI FOR CHAMPIONSHIP AND FLOCK OF SAFETY RAZORS

Warship Due Here With Fast Team Of Players Who Promise To Show Local Clubs Hot Time

By Viola Verclaire

Todays game between the Bolsheviki and the Regulars is certain to be a slam-bang affair. The Bolsheviki are out to try and even up the series, thereby forcing another game, and the Regulars will be out in full force to try to make it the last game, for if they win today they will have won the championship, also the Gillette safety razors.

The Albany, due today, is expected to bring in a team that will warm up the game.

"Trotsky" Dodge is almost certain to send Claire, his star heaver to the mound in an endeavor to stop these hard hitting Regulars.

Porterfield or Tinkham will be on the slab for the Regulars. Both of these men are pitching A I. ball and there is certain to be a good scrap.

Tanah Merah Holds Its Anuual Meeting

The annual meeting of Tanah Merah Estates (1916), Ltd., shareholders was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the secretaries, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons. Mr. A. W. Burkill presided; and there were 78,03. shares represented.

The chairman said: Gentlemen. The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time I will follow the usual course and take them as read.

Although the area in tapping during the year was over 100 acres larger than that of the previous year, the output was some 10,000 lbs. less, due principally to weather conditions, tapping having been prevented by rain on 93 occasions, and impeded on 79 as against corresponding figures of 8 and 39 for the previous year. Over 20,000 trees were thinned out during the year as against 9,690 during the previous year, and a shortage of tappers also further increased the reduction. The f.o.b. cost of the rubber is increased by 1¼d. per lb. the reduced crop, the generally enhanced cost of Estate supplies and the heavy loss on rice al contributing to this increase.

The Javanese labor force has been augmented and every effor is being made to further enlarge this class of labor, as the force at present is inadequate for all purposes.

Except for the small area of acres referred to in the report no exiensions have been found possible. In my remarks last year I expressed the hope that rubber prices would improve to such figures as would enable the planting program to be resumed and while there has been som improvement, I regret that th margin in profit precludes us using any substantial sums for capital expenditure on further clearings. The company took up a large area of reserve land in 1918, and this land could be disposed of today at a considerab profit. The directors contemplated disposing of some of it with a view to providing funds for capital expenditure on the remainder, but as all available land in the district has now been taken up, they think it would be a mistake to part with any reserve land, especially as it might be taken up by undesirable neighbors. The directors have now under consideration a scheme for the development of this reserve land, which they hope to put before you at an early date.

All reports on the company's properties have been most satisfactory and prospects are commented on as being very favorable. The estate has been very conservatively handled by the past judicious thinning out has been done in good time and this is reflected in the even and regular growth of the trees, the good bark renewal and absence of disease.

Alternate day tapping is quite unnecessary, but as a method of bark conservation it is proposed to institute a systematic resting of portions of the estate in regular rotation which under present labor conditions will result in no loss of output and will in many ways be of undoubted benefit to the estate.

The current year's estimates provide for the erection of a hospital and dressers' quarters, the increase in the Javanese labor force making this almost imperative. Further lines for Javanese are also required and recently the Directors have sanctioned the extension of the factory and the installation of an up-to-date power plant for dealing with the rubber crop. During recent months it has become increasingly difficult to handle the large output with only hand labor, and the installation of power will reduce the cost of manufacture by 50 percent and release labor, which is badly needed elsewhere. These buildings and machinery will necessitate, very considerable capital expenditure but this expenditure is necessary and your directors hope to be able to provide funds for this in conjunction with the scheme for extensions above mentioned, leaving the profits from rubber in the future towards the payment of some return to the shareholders.

The accounts call for little comment. Exchange loss is a very heavy one owing to the very low rate ruling at the end of the company's financial year, but I think it is safe to say that our profits will not show any further reductions on this score. The loans of $25,000 have been repaid. The directors recommend the writing down of buildings and others perishable assets to nominal figures, reducing estate developing by the sum of Tls. 5,826.75 and carrying forward Tls. 8,993.70.

In conclusion the Directors wish to express their appreciation of the good work of the manager, Mr Wyld, and his assistants.

If any shareholders have any questions, I shall be pleased to answer them.

No questions were asked and the following resolutions were carried unanimously:

Proposed by Mr. A. W. Burkill Seconded by Mr. Chun Bing-him, "That the report and accounts as presented, together with the recommendation as to appropriation of balance of profit and loss Account as presented be accepted."

Proposed by Mr. Chun Bing him, Seconded by Mr. J. V. C. Davis, "That Mr. A. W. Burkill be re-elected a director of the company."

Proposed by Mr. J. V. C. Davis, Seconded by Mr. S. R. Owen, "That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be elected auditors to the company."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paragoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which is poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of whatto your children unless you or it is composed. Casteria does not contain narcotics.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."
N. B. SIKES, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

When Children Stop Playing

Don't neglect this first sign that the children are not feeling well. The first thing to do is to give them a good laxative. It is probable that their lack of energy is due to an approaching bilious attack.

Dr. Ross' Life Pills are an effective and agreeable laxative and tonic. The children do not object to taking them, and their regular use will bring good health and high spirits.

Cotton Market

Messrs. J. Spunt and Co. write as follows in their report dated August 14:

China Cotton.—Our market may be said to have remained as inactive during the week just passed as far as the mills are concerned. However, a considerable business may be recorded as having been consummated, but solely on a speculative basis and at a decline of Tls. 0.50 per picul on the rates prevailing among the speculative element during the week previous to the one just ended. Prices for spot deliveries have also evinced a bearish tendency, engendered by the very favorable reports on the New Crop here as well as in America and India, and should the maturing period in the cotton belt of the world continue unhampered by adverse weather conditions and insectile obstructions we may look forward to still further retrogressiveness in rates. Tone of the market easy.

MUNICIPAL NOTIFICATION

No. 2715.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL 6 PER CENT. STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount £750,000

Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 percent. Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:—

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 percent in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par, or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920 the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment or in Sterling by T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures.

In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council, in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller Finance Department, 24a Kiangse Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

France Takes Independent Action

NEWS of the schism between Great Britain and France growing out of the reported recognition by France of the Government of Gen. Wrangel, is even more serious to the world at large than the crisis produced by the Polish attack on Russia. We can only hope that it is due to a misunderstanding and that an explanation will be forthcoming in the next day or two which will clear the air.

As it is, Mr. Lloyd George appears to be both mystified and shocked. Speaking on Wednesday he says that he talked with M. Millerand on Monday and feels sure that if such a proceeding had been in contemplation the French Premier would have mentioned it. Mr. Lloyd George in fact is unable to credit the Reuter's report. The French Government on the other hand announces through Reuter's that official notification of this action was made to Mr. Lloyd George on Tuesday. The only possible explanation of this is that the telegram must have gone astray, a thing which doesn't often happen to official telegrams of such importance passing between Paris and London.

News of this decision by France must be particularly disconcerting and distressing to the British Premier, coming as it does, on the day after his speech in the House of Commons in explanation of the Polish debacle. Mr. Lloyd George, always plausible, clever and forceful, had well-nigh cleared the Allied skirts of guilty complicity in the Polish aggression. It was well known that the Allies had organised, armed, trained and even officered the Polish army. But Mr. Lloyd George's contention was that Poland had embarked on her career of aggrandisement in defiance of the Allies and in the face of their warnings against such a course. The Allies, in other words, did not want Poland to attack Russia.

The natural question which arises here of course, is: Then why didn't they stop Poland? They had created Poland; they had created the Polish army. But at the critical moment they could not control either Poland or the Polish army. Anyway, their sentiments towards Russia were being made over. The Bolshevists had some rights in their own country. "The Soviet Government was entitled to demand guarantees against the repetition of a similar attack." The Prime Minister, further indicating the intentions of the Allies, declared that no action would be taken except for the purpose of supporting the struggle for Poland's existence and independence.

On top of this comes the startling decision of the French, independently and without consultation, to recognise and support the Wrangel Government. In the circumstances it is more sensational than was the independent decision to seize a number of German cities when the recent Ruhr district flurry occurred. It practically means that France is at war with the Soviet, as Reuter's says. Mr. Lloyd George is placed in a most embarassing position, faced as he is by a powerful Labor Party that is very insistent upon there being no war against the Russians. On the other hand, France evidently is determined to back any attack on Russia which has for its object the overthrow of the Bolshevik Government and redemption of the Russian bonds held in France.

There the situation rests for the day. But if the Russians make peace with the Poles, what position will France find herself in, hooked up as she is with Wrangel and lacking British support?

There is one further paragraph in the Reuter's cablegram that calls for comment. This reads as follows: "The action of the French Ally is regarded in London as deliberately designed to spike the peace which had seemed assured in the Near East. It apparently splits the Allied and Associated Powers into two camps, namely France with the United States opposed to Great Britain and Italy."

The first sentence in this paragraph constitutes the strongest attack on France that Reuter's has carried within our recollection.

For the second sentence we have no explanation and can think of none. On what grounds does Reuter's say that the United States is taking sides among the Allies?

Correspondence

"THE INFLUENCE OF FOREIGN EDUCATION IN CHINESE HOMES"

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: The correspondence appearing in your columns on the subject of foreign influence and Chinese homes is beginning to bear fruit. For I read in the letter of "T.A.S." published in your issue of the 10th instant an indication that the attention of our conservative elders is being attracted to the importance of the question at issue. This is a very good sign. It shows that we have set old and young alike to thinking in regard to the problem for which we are seeking a solution. For the benefit of our discussion, we welcome the opinion expressed by "T.A.S." because it will enable us to know what deep-rooted prejudices we have to overcome in order to secure the uplift of our homes and country.

He objects to my description of the Chinese wife on the ground that not all Chinese wives are such as described. He has failed to see that the intention of my letter is not to disparage our Chinese ladies but to set forth the bad points in our family life with the hope that a satisfactory remedy may be found. Besides, what I have described are actual conditions existing in many homes in China. "T.A.S." must have been travelling blind-folded if he has not seen these conditions in our Chinese homes. I wish him to know that I too, not only himself, have had extended travels but I have made considerable observations, especially with regard to our home life, during my travelling. I have seen and known numerous homes which bear strong evidence of the truth of my statements.

We are now seeking to alleviate the sufferings of our people in their own homes. We naturally look to those who have good homes for advice and example. If "T.A.S." doubts the power of foreign influence to improve the conditions of our homes, it is simply because he does not open his eyes wide enough and has never associated himself with any high-class foreign family to see what a little paradise a good foreign home is.

What he has expressed in his letter is typical of the thought of our people half a century or more ago. Everything was considered to be as good as it could ever be and the idea of change or of advancement was never entertained. It is exactly this kind of thought that has kept China from advancing abreast of modern civilisation.

It is our duty to enlighten people like this and to awaken them to the new order of things. Therefore I will begin with the removal of the selfish idea of "T.A.S." by telling him that if I were of his disposition—one heedless of the general welfare—I would not have joined in the present discussion, for although I cannot boast of my home as perfect, I consider it to be above the average as regards happiness. To set the mind of "T.A.S." at ease, I will tell him that my wife knows English and is not a old-fashioned woman like his wife. It was with the earnest desire to uplift the homes of my country men that I made the appeal to the well-educated Chinese women for the formation of a helpful society.

As to what constitutes real happiness in the home, I should think the ideas of men like "T.A.S." differ greatly from those of our modernised youths. Lord Midas had very peculiar ears for music but it would be preposterous to suppose that everybody else's ears were like his! Yet this is exactly what "T.A.S." would have us believe. He says he is happy with his old-fashioned wife but I am afraid his idea of happiness is not what our modernised and progressive youths cherish in their ideal of a home.

I will now set before my readers the picture of an old-fashioned husband so that they may see how intolerable his ideas and manners are to our young men nowadays, not to say our modern "flappers." It must however be understood that such husbands are becoming fewer with the growth of the innocent women's consciousness of the ideas of "freedom" and "equality."

In old-fashioned homes of our old old days, the husband was considered to be the master of his wife who was expected to serve him with absolute obedience. He would lounge away on his couch, smoking his long bamboo or opium pipe, and would command his wife to bring him everything from a cup of tea to a heavy load. In his laziness, he would order his wife to take off his shoes and stockings and wash his feet. Trained to this slavish obedience, the wife would submit to all such maltreatments as a matter of course, and would put up with all the scolding and, in extreme cases, scourging with very few tears. It is difficult to see how love and affection could exist in such homes but these husbands would join "T.A.S." in saying that they were happy with their wives. We would naturally like to know whether their wives were as happy as they were. And I would just put the same question to "T.A.S."

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am, yours sincerely,

A YOUNG HUSBAND.

"WE ARE RESPONSIBLE"

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have read with great interest the discussions on "Effects of Foreign Education in Chinese Homes" and as many writers have contributed valuable criticisms on this subject, I should think it is time for us to put them into practice so that our homes may become happy, living Homes; otherwise these criticisms will be soon forgotten and things will remain just as bad as before.

First of all I think we ought to realise that when we criticise a thing we become responsible for its improvement. We must not either wait for our missionary friends or prominent educators to lead, but young men and women of China ought to shoulder the responsibility.

Our young men can help in this improvement by not getting discouraged with their ignorant wives too soon. Try your best to make them appreciate your ideals and the best methods of living and they will reach your level sooner or later, but it requires time and you have to wait for your result patiently. As most of the old-fashioned wives cherish great adoration and reverence for their husbands as a rule, the task is not so difficult as it seems. I do not mean to advocate combination between well-educated husbands and ignorant wives, but I say it to those who happen to be engaged or married unfortunately, against their own will. If you can create happy homes in spite of all the difficulties lying in your way, you deserve greater praise for your success and greater happiness will be the consequence for you have glorified your position and you have rendered great help in making the transition between the old and new age smooth and easy. You can do it, if you try hard.

I quite agree with the criticisms uttered on the ignorance of girl students in Chinese domestics. But I am afraid the accusation as to the missionary schools is not quite fair. I have studied in three missionary schools, known to many of my readers, and in all three of them we have had to learn how to make our own dresses and how to cook ordinary Chinese dishes before we were graduated. Yet, it is true that many of us do not know much about Chinese domestics. So sisters, we are responsible for our ignorance for do we not have sewing, cooking and home nursing lessons in schools? In our neglect to pay close attention to those lessons, we have not only brought criticisms to our alma-maters, but to our whole sex as well. Therefore, let us learn how to make our homes nice and sweet, our meals clean and suitable, our clothes simple and neat, our children loving and intelligent, and our husbands happy and comfortable and let us do this while we are actually in school and have the chance to prepare ourselves for later adaptations. Being a school girl myself, I say this only as advice to my sisters, and take it as well to myself.

In conclusion, I say, young men and women we are responsible for the improvement of Chinese homes. We can do it, and if everyone of us tries to do his or her part and tries hard enough, we shall really have happy homes, happy husbands, and happy wives. Yours truly,

A MISSIONARY SCHOOL GIRL.

GIRLS "ON GUARD"

"Girls, if you by any chance are bent on appropriating a man, never—oh never let him catch you at it. Young men are brought up in the belief that it is theirs to plead and entreat, and yours to simper and blush. You must bring him to your feet, for as sure as you bring yourself to his, he will ask himself concerning you, in the words of Ikey, when Moses offered him a cigar, "Vy, vots de matter wiv it?"

"What is it about darkness—the darkened room or the subdued light of the picture hall—what is it that so softly turns the fancy of the young to thoughts of love?"

"Verily a hand in the dark is worth two on the top of a tram."

ALWAYS PICKING

A capital story was told by the Bishop of Worcester in connection with the efforts of the church in that part of the country to alleviate the lot of the hop pickers, who flock into Worcester in September by the thousand. One of the mission workers, who had gone down to the hop fields, met a dilapidated individual in a country lane, who said he was a picker. Pressed for further particulars he responded:

In the summer I picks peas and fruit; when autumn comes I picks hops; in the winter I picks pockets; and when I'm caught I picks oakum. I'm kept nice and warm during the cold weather, and when the fine days comes round once more I starts pea picking again.

BAD SCOTCH

Betty coming from a hot land
Went to see an aunt in Scotland
There she met her cusin Eric,
Who was staying at North Berwick.
Betty spied him in the offing,
Said to him "You'll take me golfing,"
Eric wisest of all men,
Answered, "Hoots, I diana ken."
There they found the champions staying,
So they went to watch them playing,
Gazed at Vardon and at Taylor,
Betty thought he was a nailer.
Yes, she gazed at him a lot,
Vowed he was some brawny Scot,
Till she heard him say "Gor blimey,
Blowed if Braid ain't left a stymie."

SOME BIRD

She'd inspected every parrot in the store, and the dealer was getting rather tired. She declared that one bird was too green to go with the dining-room, and another too red for the drawing-room, and so on. At last she almost settled on a purchase. Then she suddenly asked:

"But is he a good bird? I mean I hope he doesn't use dreadful language."

"'E's a saint, lady," breathed the dealer fervently. "Sings 'ymns beautiful. I 'ad some parrots wot used to swear crool, but, if you'll believe me, this bird converted the lot of 'em."

(He sold the bird.)

SCANTY EVIDENCE

Someone recently stated that he judged whether his customers were ladies by the clothes they wore.

Senator Harding's Views

As Told In A Speech Before His Nomination For The Presidency

BY SENATOR WARREN G. HARDING

(In an address before the Home Market Club in Boston May 14, it is notable that two of the three speakers were Senator Harding, since nominated for President, and Governor Coolidge, nominated for Vice-President).

I AM a believer in government through political parties, and I do not know but that on that account, inasmuch as woman suffrage is about to be effective, I ought to address the ladies who honor us with their presence.

Politics is the science of government, and American politics ought to be just as clean as are the activities of church and school, and if it is not, women must come in and help us to make it clean. Women should never think of segregating themselves in female parties. Come into the political parties and get the viewpoint of and association with men. Women will like it best in the Republican party.

The faddist today who proclaims the abandonment of political parties is a greater menace to America than the agitator who preaches the overthrow of America by force; because through political parties we have the means of expressing our convictions and aspirations, and out of the composite view of the thinking people of America we write the covenant of party faith, which we translate into party action.

Any other way leads us to the instability of the South American republics on the one hand, and to personal dictation on the other. That is the trouble with the United States tonight—too much Wilson, that's all!

There would not be any trouble about the League of Nations if it were not for the personal dictation of the President——"my will or none." I think the sentiment of America is largely in favor of a considerable co-operation and participation on the part of the United States in a new international relationship which shall tend to promote and preserve the peace of the world. I would not have America hold aloof. But that is quite another thing.

I do not think one man is big enough to run the United States of America, much less the world. There never has been one big enough. There was not one big enough in the formative period of the Republic. There was not one big enough when Abraham Lincoln became the martyr and savior of the Union, when McKinley wrought restoration in America, or when Theodore Roosevelt brought the awakening of the American conscience. There never will be one big enough, and if there were, he could not hand it on to somebody else.

If the Republic is to go on we must maintain political parties as the agencies for expressing popular aspirations and convictions and thought, and then for transmuting those things into administrations. Through such a process you have the preservation of the American Republic.

I do not want to discuss foreign relations. If we are insistent on spending our time on foreign relations we can find something to engage our attention right here at home.

There isn't anything the matter with world civilisation, except that humanity is viewing it through a vison impaired in a cataclysmal war. Poise has been disturbed and nerves have been racked and fever has rendered men irrational; sometimes there have been drafts upon the dangerous cup of barbarity and men have wandered far from safe paths, but the human procession still marches in the right direction.

Here in the United States we feel the reflex rather than the direct wound, but we still think straight and mean to hold firmly to all that was ours when war involved us, and seek the higher attainments which are the only compensations that so supreme a tragedy may give mankind.

America's present need is not heroics, but healing; not nostrums, but normality; not revolution, but restoration; not agitation, but adjustment; not surgery, but serenity; not the dramatic, but the dispassionate; not experiment, but equipoise; not submergence in internationality, but sustainment of triumphant nationality.

It is one thing to battle successfully aginst world domination by a military autocracy, because the infinite God never intended such a program, but it is quite another thing to revise human nature and suspend the fundamental laws of life and all of life's acquirements.

The world called for peace, and has its precarious variety.

America demands peace, formal as well as actual, and means to have it, regardless of political exigencies and campaign issues. We challenged the proposal that an armed autocrat should dominate the world; it ill becomes us to assume that a rhetorical autocrat shall direct all humanity.

There can be no disguising the truth. No people ever recovered from the distressing waste of war except through work and denial. There is no other way. We shall make no recovery in seeking how little men can do; our restoration lies in doing the most which is reasonably possible for individuals to do.

Underproduction and hateful profiteering are both morally criminal, and must be combated. America cannot be content with minimums of production today. The crying need is maximums. If we have maximums of production we shall have minimum of cost, and profiteering will be speeded to its deserved punishment.

Money values are not destroyed; they are temporarily distorted. War wasted hundreds of billions and depleted world storehouses, and cultivated new demands, and it hardened selfishness and gave an awakening touch to elemental greed. Humanity needs renewed consecrations to what we call fellow citizenship.

One of the inevitable inheritances of the war is high wages. I think they are going to abide, and I will rejoice that they do, but only on the conditon that the American wage-earner gives high efficiency for the high wages paid.

If I could offer a prayer tonight for this Republic of ours, I would ask God Almighty to make us a simple-living people. We are living now like drunken sailors without a thought of America, and without any consideration of our problems. No wonder that prices are high.

I have been wearing a $1.85 hat for the last two years, and I am wearing it as a protest against high costs. I have been jollied a lot about it, but it is enough to kick into the ring, anyhow.

You can't cure this situation with fads. Governor Coolidge has alluded to the overall fad, and that puts up the overall; better try patches fore and aft. I know that the manufacturer and the distributor do not approve of this doctrine, but they ought, because it is more useful than anything else in sobering down this Republic.

And out of this swollen system of floating wealth America ought to have come to a competence, and millions of the sons of this Republic ought to be owning their own homes, who never owned them before, and there is not such a safeguard against Bolshevism as that. I wish we had the gospel of thrift preached. I pray for sober thinking in behalf of the future of America.

I remember how my heart was thrilled on the occasion of my first visit to Europe. In London and Berlin, in Paris as well, I saw placards portraying American footwear as the finest produced. It is well enough to be quantity producers. Let us be quality producers so that the stamp of America will mean the best there is in the world.

I cannot help recalling what has been said on the subject of the coming of the new freedom. We Americans are peculiar with our memories. If one went out today on the stump to talk the gospel of protection for American industries he would have a scant hearing.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark)

Iodine For Consumption And Gout

Intensive iodine treatment for consumption and for rheumatism is again brought to the fore in an article in the Lancet (London) by Dr. Tom Bird of Guy's Hospital. He writes that it was brought to his notice by Dr. William Ewart of St. George's Hospital, who had used it for his own arthritis with such success that "from being unable to go upstairs one at a time, he could manage three at a time." He took ten grains in the day of pure iodine, through the medium of the French tincture (or Indian tincture), neither of which contains any iodide of potassium.

"In quite a number of arthritic cases," writes Dr. Bird, "and in three or four cases of chronic gout, and in those cases called 'rheumatic gout,' I have had a quite remarkable success, especially as to pain and insomnia. In 1917 I met an old friend, Dr. J. H. Ewart of Eastbourne, and no relation of the above mentioned Dr. Ewart, who told me he used the treatment, and 'was continually having prescriptions returned by the chemists, who were surprised at the doses." Although he is himself susceptible to iodine, he told me that he could take one dram of the French tincture for a dose. He wrote:

"'I tried the treatment, tinct. iodine (French), and began with 10 min., and went on to 30 min. three times a day, and the results were really marvellous; my finger joints decreased in size in a most wonderful manner. I then went wrong, and began taking 60 min. three times a day, and this ended by giving me a diarrhoea I shall not forget. But to refer to other people. I treated at the All Saints' Convalescent Hospital everybody who complained of chronic rheumatism with tinct. iod. (F.) I don't think the three weeks they were there that I got beyond 30 min. thrice a day, but the results were really splendid.

"With regard to tuberculosis, I have only one case to report. He had been at a sanitarium, and was apparently cured; but in a comparatively short time began to fail, and at last came hemorrhage. I had already advised him to try iodine as a prophylactic. When the hemorrhage came he was alarmed and began to take iodine. Some two months after I met him by accident and was surprised at his healthy appearance. He was, he said, quite well and had increased ten pounds in weight. One swallow does not make a summer, but a swallow is a happy omen when it comes.

"Some people are susceptible to iodine, as is my friend Dr. Ewart of Eastbourne, yet he arrived at one dram doses, I generally order 1 grain after meals three times a day the first week, 2 grains the second week, 3 grains the third week. For arthritis I seldom give more. Beyond slight catarrh of the nasal mucous membrane, of the possibility of which I warn patients, I hear of no inconvenience, certainly no iodism. If the treatment has been left off it is better to begin again with small doses, as diarrhoea may follow a large dose. When pain and swelling have been relieved my custom is gradually to discontinue the medicine.

"The notable absence of iodism following the use of the French tincture suggests that it might be used instead of iodide of potassium."

The Need For A Vacation

BY BRICE BELDEN, M.D.

Do you need a vacation? You do. Everybody does.

We fancy that every one realizes this truth nowadays. The strange species of human being who once boasted that he never took a vacation seems to have died away. Nevertheless, it is well to emphasize the necessity of vacation, lest some busy person forget.

Practical experience and observation, together with increasing popular knowledge about matters of health, have all combined to make people understand that physical health and mental ability are interdependent, and that it pays economically to keep fit.

You will have observed that the successful man of affairs of today takes time off, no matter what happens, and, after playing out of doors for a while, comes back with renewed vitality, mental and physical. Result—larger dividends.

This policy should be emulated by everybody. Make good use of your week-ends as well as of your regular vacation period. Don't sit in the house reading about the sports of others. Go out and fish, even for perch, and return to the office with zest, good nature and pleasant recollections of a good outing.

Occasional relaxation of this sort will very likely prevent one from breaking down while still comparatively young, and will keep "nerves" at bay as well. In addition to the enhancement or conservation of physical and mental health, and the boost to one's economic well being, there is also a lengthening of life. And this longer life is lived in greater happiness and comfort because of a rational personal hygiene.

The body is more or less like a cell in which electric energy is stored. Lay the cell aside for a while and it will gain in power. Give the body a rest and change occasionally, and it will store up reserve energy.

As a matter of fact, our industrial leaders are seeing to it that their employes take proper vacations, since they have found that such a policy adds definitely to their assets.

Vertigo Generally Caused By The Ears

Vertigo, or dizziness, is a common complaint. It is due sometimes to trouble in the heart, sometimes in the kidneys, the stomach, the eyes or the brain, but in the great majority of cases the cause is in the ears; in fact, the late Sir William Gowers told Dr. Sydney Scott, one of the great aural surgeons of London, that in ninety-nine out of every hundred persons who consulted him for this complaint there was some disturbance in the ears.

In a recent address before the Plymouth Medical Society Dr. Scott explained the way in which the ears were affected. Usually this is a stoppage of the Eustachian tube on one side or on both. These tubes are normally closed, but in the act of swallowing they open for a fraction of a second and admit air to the chamber back of the drum, thus equalising the air pressure on both sides of the drum. Divers or caisson workers who enter the compression chamber with a cold in their head know the pain, dizziness and vomiting that result, for a cold in the head causes swelling at the entrance of the Eustachian tubes which prevents these from opening. Airmen who return quickly from great altitudes know the necessity of swallowing often and vigorously in order to equalise the pressure.

When one of the tubes fails to open the air pressure in the labyrinths of the two ears soon becomes different, and vertigo results. This trouble is called Meniere's disease.

Dr. Scott says the treatment is that for local catarrh, combined with inflation. Patients can be trained to keep their Eustachian tubes free; swallowing and yawning will open their orifices. Sometimes they have to be opened with a catheter and touched with a mild solution of nitrate of silver. Rest and opening the bowels are a great help, and bromides, iodides and quinine sometimes, but not always hasten the cure.

Pleasant Healing Wash For The Mouth

To a physician who writes for a formula for the best mouth wash, the Journal of the American Medical Association replies that it is impossible to disinfect the mouth; nothing will prevent the development of germs there except while it is actually in the mouth, and one cannot keep one's mouth full of disinfecting fluid all the time.

But it advises the use of a wash made as follows: Dried and granulated castile soap, 6 grams; benzosulphinid, one-fifth of a gram; basic fuchsin, two-thousandths of a gram; oil of cassia and oil of peppermint, half a gram of each; oil of cloves, one gram; alcohol, 75 grams; water enough to make 100 grams. A few drops of this added to water for rinsing the mouth.

This will be pleasant, cleansing and healing.

Orange And Tomato Juice For Babies

Orange juice is not only a valuable anti-scorbutic as an addition to the diet of bottle-fed babies, but recent experiments have shown it to possess many other virtues. The Journal of the American Medical Association quotes the experiments of T. B. Osborne and L. B. Mendel, who have devoted themselves specially to this study, as proving that orange juice contains the antineuritic and growth-stimulating vitamin.

Drs. A. H. Byfield and A. L. Daniels of the University of Iowa "have noted that in every case when the antiscorbutic dose of orange juice (15 cubic centimeters) was increased to 45 cubic centimeters a day to infants whose weight had remained stationary for a number of days, there was a marked stimulation of growth. A mere increase of food intake of itself had no such influence on the rate of gain."

Thus in giving plenty of orange juice to infants, one is administering at least two beneficial adjuvants to the diet.

This is true also of tomato juice, first urged by Dr. A. F. Hess of New York. The great beauty about this is that it can be dried or canned without losing its potency in vitamin. Tomato juice is not only anti-scorbutic but rich in the other vitamins. In short, it contains all the qualities that make it one of the most valuable additions to the diet of infants and growing children.

Furnishing Problems.

Consciously or unconsciously in the furnishing of your home, you strive for harmony and do not always obtain pleasing results in every room.

Many people fail in their color selection of the floors and the walls.

The most beautiful furniture will lose half its charm, against a background of ugly wall-paper or ill-chosen rugs.

Expense is not a factor in the cost of them, quietness in colour and unobtrusiveness in design are the prime requisites. Our experience in the solution of your furnishing problems will give you pleasure and economy.
